

PROJECTS

Maxwell Winward's Projects Group has an established track record in the field of infrastructure projects.

Infrastructure projects is an area of practice that brings together many of the most demanding aspects of the built environment in a complex web of interdependent relationships. In this challenging context, there is a clear competitive advantage for client organisations to partner with an experienced legal team and Maxwell Winward has the necessary technical skills, experience of working with government, sponsors, project companies and national and international contractors. Above all, the Projects Group is always committed to the needs of the client.

- PFI/PPP – tunnelling; motorways; railways; bridges; land reclamation; accommodation; sports stadia.
- Performance bonds – high value performance bonds; contractual due diligence; co-surety arrangements; counter indemnities; claims.
- IPPs - EPC contracts; fuel supply contracts; power purchase and sale agreements; operation & maintenance agreements; long term service agreements; renewables.
- Energy sector – commercial and regulatory advice.
- Waste – integrated waste management projects; energy from waste projects.
- Major residential, office and retail developments.
- Infrastructure investment; joint ventures; development agreements; secondary markets; mergers and acquisitions.

Maxwell Winward is a focussed modern specialist law firm, that combines experience, expertise, and rigorous professionalism to provide its clients with the best available advice across the entire spectrum of its chosen areas of specialisation: – real estate, construction, projects and corporate